"From bud to bloom - a reminder that progress is a journey of growth."

Dear All,

Flowers are one of nature's most beautiful creations. Flowers grow in variety of colours, shapes and sizes, bringing joy and beauty to the world around us. Flowers are a part of our daily lives. From gardens and parks to weddings and festivals, flowers speak a universal language that expresses our emotions and feelings. Let's explore the vibrant world of flowers.

- Cherry Blossoms (Japan, South Korea) : These delicate pink and white flowers bloom in spring for few weeks and change the entire landscape.
- Rafflesia Arnoldii (Indonesia) : It is the largest flower in the world and smells awfully bad.
- Tulip (Netherland / Holland) : These are vibrant spring flowers and were very expensive long ago.
- Dracula Orchid (Colombia): These flowers looks like a monkey's face! They grow in high mountains.
- Blue Poppy (Himalayas): These flowers are rare and difficult to grow. Stunning sky blue flowers bloom at high altitudes.
- Some flowers bloom only at night, white in colour and they have very strong smell e.g. Queen of the Night, a cactus blooms only once a year.
- Snowdrops and Corcuser are some flowers which can bloom in snow.
- Flowers can signal bees - Many flowers, have ultraviolet patterns on their petals that act like landing guides for bees.
